Call for Papers

We are pleased to announce that the Barishal University Law Journal (ISSN: 2411-247X) is inviting original research papers to consider for publication in Volume 6, 2026. The Journal is supposed to be published twice in a year by the Faculty of Law with the aim to promote publication of pragmatic researches in the various aspects of law, contemporary legal issues, and other allied disciplines. Research papers on interdisciplinary issues related to legal fields, theories and philosophy will also be considered for publication in the Journal.

Instructions and Guide for the Authors

1. Papers that have been previously published or are currently under consideration for publication anywhere else shall not be considered for publication process. The author shall be held liable for such cases.
2. For publication, each paper has to comply with the Editorial Policy of the Journal attached herewith. For the purpose, each paper shall be internally reviewed first and if found primarily worthy of publishing shall undergo a blind peer review process. However, submitted papers are also subject to any posterior changes brought to the Editorial Policy.
3. Only the papers suggested by the reviewers for publication will be considered for publication after ensuring required corrections, modification and alteration if any.
4. Language of the paper shall be English and shall be extended to maximum 6000 words excluding notes and references.
5. The English font must be Times New Roman with 12 size, be spaced at least 1.5. Printed copies must be typed on one side of A4 size papers with margins 1.5 inch on the left side and 1 inch on the right.
